AFRICAN STUDIES LIBRARY

Digital Library with 75 Texts on African Languages,
Linguistics of African Languages, and Traditional African Religions and Cultures

Scenery around Mount Kilimanjaro. KILIMANJARO means MOUNTAIN OF BAD SPIRITS

»This African Studies Library« contains 75 carefully selected texts from different periods and covers the following topics:

- Practical Language Courses
- Linguistics of African Languages
- German Journal articles with studies on native languages in the areas of the German colonial past
- Linguistic descriptive studies of Bantu Languages
- Kiswahili – studies, language instruction, and reference materials
- Authentic texts on African Traditional Religions
- Authentic texts on Traditional African Cultures
- History of Christian Missions in Africa
- Bible Translation into African Languages

The purpose of this digital edition is to provide texts of recognised scholars, past and present, to the interested student and researcher in the field of African Studies as background texts and for reference. Most of these texts are out of print and most likely are no longer easily accessible in public libraries. These texts have been used successfully in relevant degree programs at International Faith Theological Seminary (IFTS), and several IFTS graduate students have made use of them while working on their respective research projects.
